

Elm

By Sean de Podesta

The city's oldest elm –
All knarl and fissured bulk –
Rises from the spreading aconites
Like a lumbering elephant seal
Dark and profound in its ugliness,
But the flowers gild it,
As the sea's spray celebrates
The great beasts that cut through it.