

Nick Andrews Plays At The Unitarian
By Jane Thorp

faces range in rows under the windows where the stain in the glass prevails fingers on keys running Bach in ripples clouds and gusts across a gallery of ears everyone swaying sweet escape to the leap of phrase and turn the inward vagrant loosened in the eye of the heart's regard